Summary

I am a detail-oriented and organized team player who excels in fast-paced environments. I deliver high-quality work on tight deadlines and am enthusiastic about collaborating to contribute to company success. My dedication to excellence drives me to continually enhance my skills and seek innovative solutions for web applications.

Languages

English

In terms of my English proficiency, I am at a B1.3 level, which means I can comprehend detailed information on topics I may not be familiar with. I am adept at using English as a tool for communication in both academic and professional settings. I can initiate and sustain spontaneous conversations, express and defend my ideas in discussions, and understand some idiomatic expressions used by native speakers.

German

In German at an A2.2 level, I can handle most communication tasks for routine social and work situations. Though I may make occasional errors, I'm able to initiate and sustain conversations, give basic instructions, explain simple problems, guide visitors, respond to invitations, express preferences, and address agreements or disagreements politely.
